What is different from Head Start?

- One teacher per classroom of 25 or more students, and a part time teaching assistant.
- Lunch may be in a large cafeteria, with other classes. Students line up to collect their food and eat from their own tray. Some schools may require payment for meals. Please inquire about lunch options at your designated school.
- During the week students will attend classes with other teachers such as PE, music, art, library, and computer. The teachers may have different expectations.
- Children will be expected to stay in their seat to complete age appropriate tasks.
- Most kindergarten teachers send simple homework for parents to complete with their child.
- Students are often grouped around tables in kindergarten, to support learning how to work with others.
- Students will play outside in winter to a chill factor/temperature of -10 degrees Fahrenheit. Make sure they dress accordingly.
- When buses are available, the school district does not require you to be at the stop. Ensure you have a back-up plan with a neighbor if no one will be home when your child is dropped off. Bus stops are generally within a block of the home, so a group of children can be picked up at once. Ensure your child knows proper road safety.

- When your child is absent contact the school by 10 am that day. They have forms for prearranged absences.

End of the Year Goals For Kindergarten

- Language Arts – Recognize rhyming words, use drawing and dictation to present stories and ideas, converse with others with standard grammar, talk about stories and informational text they have heard, print upper and lower case letters
- Math – Know number names, count to 100 by ones and tens, count objects, describe and compare shapes, sort objects, recognize and continue simple patterns, begin simple addition and subtraction.
- Social Emotional – Communicate with others, share, participate in class discussions, work cooperatively with others.
- Report cards come out quarterly and will be mailed home.
